

A young man, named Tapman, formerly of Maryland, but of late a resident of Saxis was drowned at that place last Saturday. In a boat race on that day he jumped from the boat in which he was to lighten it, and in some way his clothes were so disarranged as to cause him to lose the use of his feet, and he sank before help could be given him. He was an excellent young man and well thought of by everyone in the community in which the distressing accident occurred.
